JONES IN COMMAND OF ATLANTIC FLEET

Vice-Admiral, Promoted, Will Succeed Wilson, Who Goes to Naval Academy.

TO TAKE EFFECT JUNE 30

Eberle Is Named to Succeed Rodman in Pacific—Other Changes Announced.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Vice-Admiral H. P. Jones was assigned today to command the Atlantic fleet, with the rank of admiral. He will succeed Admiral H. B. Wilson, who will lower his flag June 30 to assume command of the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Rear Admiral E. W. Eberle, now commanding a battleship division in the Atlantic fleet, was named as commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, with the rank of admiral. He will succeed Admiral Hugh Rodman, who will be assigned to command the naval operating base at Hampton Roads.

Rear Admiral John D. McDonald, now commanding the navy yard at New York, will become second in command of the Atlantic fleet and in command of the battleship force, with the rank of vice-admiral. He succeeds Admiral Jones. Rear Admiral W. R. Shoemaker, now commanding the Fourteenth naval district and the naval station at Pearl Harbor, becomes vice-admiral of the Pacific fleet.

Other important naval assignments announced were:

Capt. C. T. Vogelgesang, now chief of staff of the Atlantic fleet, to be commander of the navy yard, New York. Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, lately relieved as commander of American naval forces in Adriatic waters, to be commander of the navy yard, Norfolk. Capt. Noble E. Irwin, commanding the battleship Oklahoma, to be commander of the Portsmouth navy yard.

Capt. T. A. Kearney, on duty in the Navy Department, to be commander of industrial affairs at the New York navy yard.

Capt. A. L. Willard, commanding the battleship New Mexico, to be aide for the secretary of the Navy.

The new commander of the Pacific fleet is a native of Texas and served in the battleship Oregon during the Spanish-American war. Before his assignment to his present station as commander of Battleship Division No. 5, Atlantic fleet, he was superintendent of the Naval Academy. His home is at Fort Smith, Ark.

Admiral Jones is a native of Virginia and also served in the Spanish-American war. During the world war he was commander of Division 1, cruiser force, Atlantic fleet.

Admiral Wilson and Rodman are completing their two years as commanders of the Atlantic fleet. Admiral Wilson was assigned to the Atlantic fleet after his return in 1919 from overseas, where he took a prominent part in the naval operations of the world war as commander of the American naval forces based on France.

Admiral Rodman commanded the Sixth Battle Squadron, the organization of American dreadnoughts that became part of the British Grand Fleet during the war, and was a favorite with the officers and men of the allied service. When former Secretary Daniels sent half of the United States fleet to the Pacific coast after the war, the task of organizing the new Pacific fleet division was entrusted to Admiral Rodman.

NEW REVENUE POST TO C. W. ANDERSON

Negro Leader Will Get Collectors' Office of the Restored Old Third District.

Word reached here yesterday that the Administration in Washington had decided to appoint Charles W. Anderson, the negro leader in New York city, a collector of internal revenue, but not to his old post in the Second district, as he had desired. The information is that New York city is to get one of the six or eight new districts to be created in the country. In this case it will practically be a restoration of the old Third district, which was abolished in the Wilson Administration. To this Mr. Anderson would like to be appointed.

The decision to make a place for Anderson is said to be due not only to the drive that has been made for him personally, but also to appease the Republicans throughout the country, who have been complaining they had not been properly recognized.

Mr. Anderson was collector of Internal Revenue in the Tenth and Roosevelt Administrations, being in charge of the Second district, which includes the lower part of Manhattan Island, the most important district in the country. Since the election of President Harding he has been an applicant for reappointment to this place. It is understood, however, that Frank K. Bost, leader of the Twenty-first Assembly district, will get that plum. He has been recommended by the organization. The Third district will run north from Fourteenth street and will include The Bronx and a part of Westchester.

William C. Hecht, leader of the Sixteenth district, is slated to succeed Thomas H. McCarthy as United States Marshal and his nomination may go to the Senate this week, although there was some talk that McCarthy would be permitted to serve out his term. The appointment of Edward M. Morgan to his old post as Postmaster is said to be settled, although it is yet to be determined whether the President will waive the age limit so Mr. Morgan may take a civil service examination or whether he will be restored to his old position in the civil service and then be promoted to Postmaster. When he became Postmaster originally he had to go outside the civil service to take the place.
